“We have been using the FLYIT Helicopter Simulator for 8 months now in our training programs. The application for instrument training is obvious, but we have found it to be an excellent training tool in our VFR programs also. Emergency procedures, inadvertent flight into IMC conditions, settling with power and tail rotor failures are just a few of the items our students practice to improve their skills. We have found it helps our student’s progress through their training with more confidence and a better grasp of the fundamentals. We have been so pleased with the results; we have incorporated use of the FLYIT Simulator into our Part 141 curriculum.”
